HOC SIGNO FORTUNA

BALTIMORE, THURSDAY, September 20, 1821.

The $5000 prize sold at Cohen's.

No. 8 was the first drawn yesterday, from the wheels of the Grand State Lottery, and agreeably to the scheme, is entitled to the premium of FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS. This lucky Number, we divided and sold in shares, One Half, One Quarter, and Two Eighths.

We have thus again, to congratulate adventurers on the continued success attending their investments at our office. The cash is ready for the fortunate holders of No. 8, and we shall have peculiar pleasure in honoring their several shares by the immediate payment of them in Gold, Silver, or Notes of the Bank of the United States.

Another prize to be drawn soon.

On Thursday after next, the 14th drawing of the Grand State Lottery will take place, when the first drawn Number will be entitled to TEN THOUSAND DOLLARS. Tickets are becoming scarce, therefore to secure chances for this handsome prize, as well as to be prepared for the great Capitals of 40,000 and 20,000 dollars, orders from distant places should be forwarded without delay.

Whole Tickets $10 | Quarters - - 2 50
Halves - - - - 5 | Eighths - - - 1 25

The same prompt attention is paid to all orders by letter, as if the applications were made in person.

Direct to

J. I. COHEN, Jr.

Secretary to the Managers—Baltimore.

We continue to day the recapitulation of the Nos. of the prizes above Ten Dollars, drawn during the first ten drawings, and which complete the whole to this date—in future, in addition to the Managers Official Lists, as heretofore, we shall insert every week an abstract from them, in which will be designated all the Nos. of principal prizes sold at COHEN'S OFFICE.

Coronation of George IV.

Since our last, by several arrivals from Europe, we have received the details of the ceremonies at the Coronation of the King of England, which took place on the 19th of July. Our limits will not allow their insertion. The Queen had persevered in her determination of witnessing the ceremony, but on her arrival at Westminster Abbey, was peremptorily refused admittance by the Centinels, and was consequently compelled to return. This circumstance does not seem to have caused any serious disturbance, although Her Majesty immediately on reaching her house, published an account of the ungracious treatment she had experienced.

Death of the Queen of England.

The latest accounts from England, are received by the ship Importer at New-York, bringing London dates to the 4th of August. The most important intelligence is the DEATH OF THE QUEEN of England, who it appears was "first indisposed at the Theatre, on the thirtieth of July, which was considerably increased on the second of August, and terminated fatally on the evening of the 7th, of an obstruction of the bowels, attended with inflammation. Her remains were to be sent to Brunswick for interment, agreeably to her will."

The King was on a visit to Ireland, which it is said, would not be interrupted by this event.

Accounts from Frankfort state, that when intelligence of the death of Bonaparte reached Baden, Prince Eugene and Duchess Dowager Stephania of Baden, caused the invitations, which they had ordered for that day, to be countermanded, and immediately put on mourning.

The news of the death of Bonaparte had caused no sensation at Madrid.

We find many letters upon the war between the Turks and Greeks—all going to shew the horrid barbarity which continues to mark the conduct of the former towards the latter.

Intelligence from St. Petersburg, states, that the Emperor Alexander, had given a categorical reply to the representation of the Porte; in which he demands complete satisfaction for the insults offered his Ambassadors, and if not given in the space of eight days, measures would be taken accordingly.

A despatch, addressed by Bonaparte to the Emperor of Austria, his father-in-law, has been transmitted by the marquis of Londonderry to Prince Esterhazy, and has been expedited by the latter, to the Court of Vienna. It is generally believed, that this despatch contains the dispositions which the ex-emperor wished to make in favor of his son.

The celebrated Mrs. Inchbald is dead. She has left behind her, memoirs of her life, with anecdotes of the persons connected with her age and the times in which she lived.

The Austrians are pushing their forces for the frontiers of Turkey—the Austrian forces are 100,000 men. The Russian army amounts to 200,000 men. War is resolved upon. Austria and Russia take the field against Turkey.

Capt. Choate, at Salem, 41 days from Pernambuco, inform, that discontents and insurrections universally prevailed at that place. The Governor was every moment in jeopardy: an assassin, with two pistols in his hands, shot at him, and the ball penetrated his side, but the wound was not mortal; the fellow being closely pursued, leaped over the bridge and was drowned; his body was afterwards picked up, and although a very large reward was offered, no one dared to identify his person. Thus the Portuguese enjoy their constitutional freedom.

It is stated "that the Secretary of the Navy, on hearing the recent piracies, and particularly that committed on the Orleans, with a promptitude highly commendable, has given directions to lieutenant commandant Gregory, of the United States sch'r. Grampus, lying at New York, to proceed immediately on a cruise along the coast of Florida, and the Bahama Islands, in such directions as may be most likely to intercept the robbers. Similar orders have been forwarded to the public armed vessels on the Southern Coast.

"It is also understood, that the Navy Department will order a convoy for the vessels about sailing for Cuba and New Orleans."

PHILADELPHIA, September 12.

We understand that the American Philosophical Society, at its meeting on Monday evening appointed a committee to ascertain and report the best Plan and site for the construction of a canal to connect the Delaware with the Chesapeake Bay.

Franklin Gazette.

NEW-YORK, September 15.

Singular Death.—On Thursday afternoon, about 5 o'clock, HENRY JANSEN, Esq. a delegate to the Convention, from the county of Ulster, when apparently in perfect health, fell down in the Capitol, at Albany, and instantly expired. He had the moment before, purchased a ticket for admission to Peale's celebrated picture of the COURT OF DEATH, now exhibiting in the Senate Chamber; and while he was crossing the threshold of the door leading to the picture, he was instantly summoned from the representation, to an awful reality?

Common Scold.—Catharine Fields was indicted and convicted for being a common scold. The trial was excessively amusing, from the variety of testimony, and the diversified manner in which this Xantippe pursued her virulent propensities.

"Ruder than March wind, she blew a hurricane;" and it was given in evidence, that after having scolded the family individually, the bipeds and quadrupeds, the neighbours, hogs, poultry, and geese, she would throw the window open at night to scold the watchman. Her countenance was an index to her temper—sharp, peaked, sallow, and small eyes. To be sentenced on Saturday next.

The Common Scold, convicted at the present court of Sessions, not relishing the paragraph in our paper, called at our office to prove that she was an injured woman, by giving us "a touch of her condition." Being unfortunately out, she commenced with the clerk, and after giving him a specimen of her melting powers, she concluded by scolding the devil in the office, and then took her departure, announcing her intention to pay me a visit; which, if she is bent upon doing, we shall return the compliment by putting her to press, and taking a fair impression of this singular virago, for the benefit of the sex generally.—Nat. Adv.

NORFOLK, Sept. 17.

The fever still exists in our town, though it has certainly abated very considerably; and the cases which now occur appear to have assumed a milder aspect, as they more frequently yield to the power of medicine than in the earlier progress of the disease. There were four deaths yesterday—one of which to my knowledge was not by the prevailing fever—nor can I undertake to say that all the remainder were. Our town presents a gloomy appearance; the stores nearly all shut, and the streets almost deserted. The disease appears to be still confined to the lower district—it has not reached as high as Main-street, nor to the Eastward of Campbell's wharf. There have been two or three cases in Main-street, [West of Market square] but they are not understood to have originated there.

From the St. Louis Register we learn that the Bank of Missouri has failed, to the ruin of hundreds of its citizens. Many, it is added, had laid by their paper for the purpose of making payment for their lands, whose hopes of now acquiring a home, are entirely blasted.

The Circuit Court of the United States in Ohio has issued a decree in chancery to compel the auditor and treasurer of that state to refund the 100,000 dollars taken by them from the United States Bank.

An appeal is taken from this decree to the Supreme Court. An agreement, we understand, is filed, by which the bank can in no event ask to recover more than the 100,000 dollars, with interest upon 19,830 dollars.
